FATE OF FRENCH FLEET?

Few Ships Likely To Fall Into Nazi Hands

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

London, To-day.

BIGGEST QUERY MARK in unofficial quarters, following the setting up of a French National Committee in London, repudiation of Petain's Capitulaton Ministry by Frenchmen all over the world and Mr. Churchill's efforts to consolidate the French spirit of continued resistance, concerns the French Fleet, what has happened or is to happen to it?

The answer, according to authoritative quarters, is possibly best provided by a German broadcast which stated that "Germany may have to accept the position that the French Government may not be able to control its forces and people outside France."

German "Guarantee"

It is already known, in any case, that important units of the French Navy, including two battleships, are with the British Fleet in the eastern basin of the Mediterranean with Alexandria as their base. A large number of French submarines are also based on Alexandria.

Other ships are reported to have left Toulon for an unknown destination, and French war vessels on France's western coast have long been acting in close cooperation with the British Navy in the Atlantic and North Sea.

General impression is that while a few ships may fall into German or Italian hands, that is not likely to be the fate of the Fleet as a whole. The German guarantee to Marshal Petain is the subject of scathing comment.

It is revealed that the British War Cabinet was in session for two hours before Mr. Churchill made his broadcast calling on Frenchmen overseas to rally to the cause of civilisation.—Havas.

General De Gaulle Dismissed By Petain

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

Bordeaux, To-day.

The Home Minister, M. Charles Pommaret, announces that upon the proposal of General Weygand, General de Gaulle has been dismissed following his speech in London.

The dismissal does not exclude other measures which may be taken later against this former general, the announcement added.—Havas.

Bordeaux Protest

Bordeaux, To-day.

A statement issued over the French wireless makes a most formal protest against the allegations contained in Mr. Winston Churchill's broadcast.

The protest adds that the French Government rejects the distinction which it was apparently intended to make between itself and the opinion of its country.

"It is certain it is acting for the best in regard to the interests with which it was entrusted and it is certain of the adhesion of all Frenchmen.

"British public opinion, when it is informed, will understand that it was impossible for the French Government to follow a line of conduct other than that which it chose."—Reuter.

FRENCH LEAVING SICCAWEI

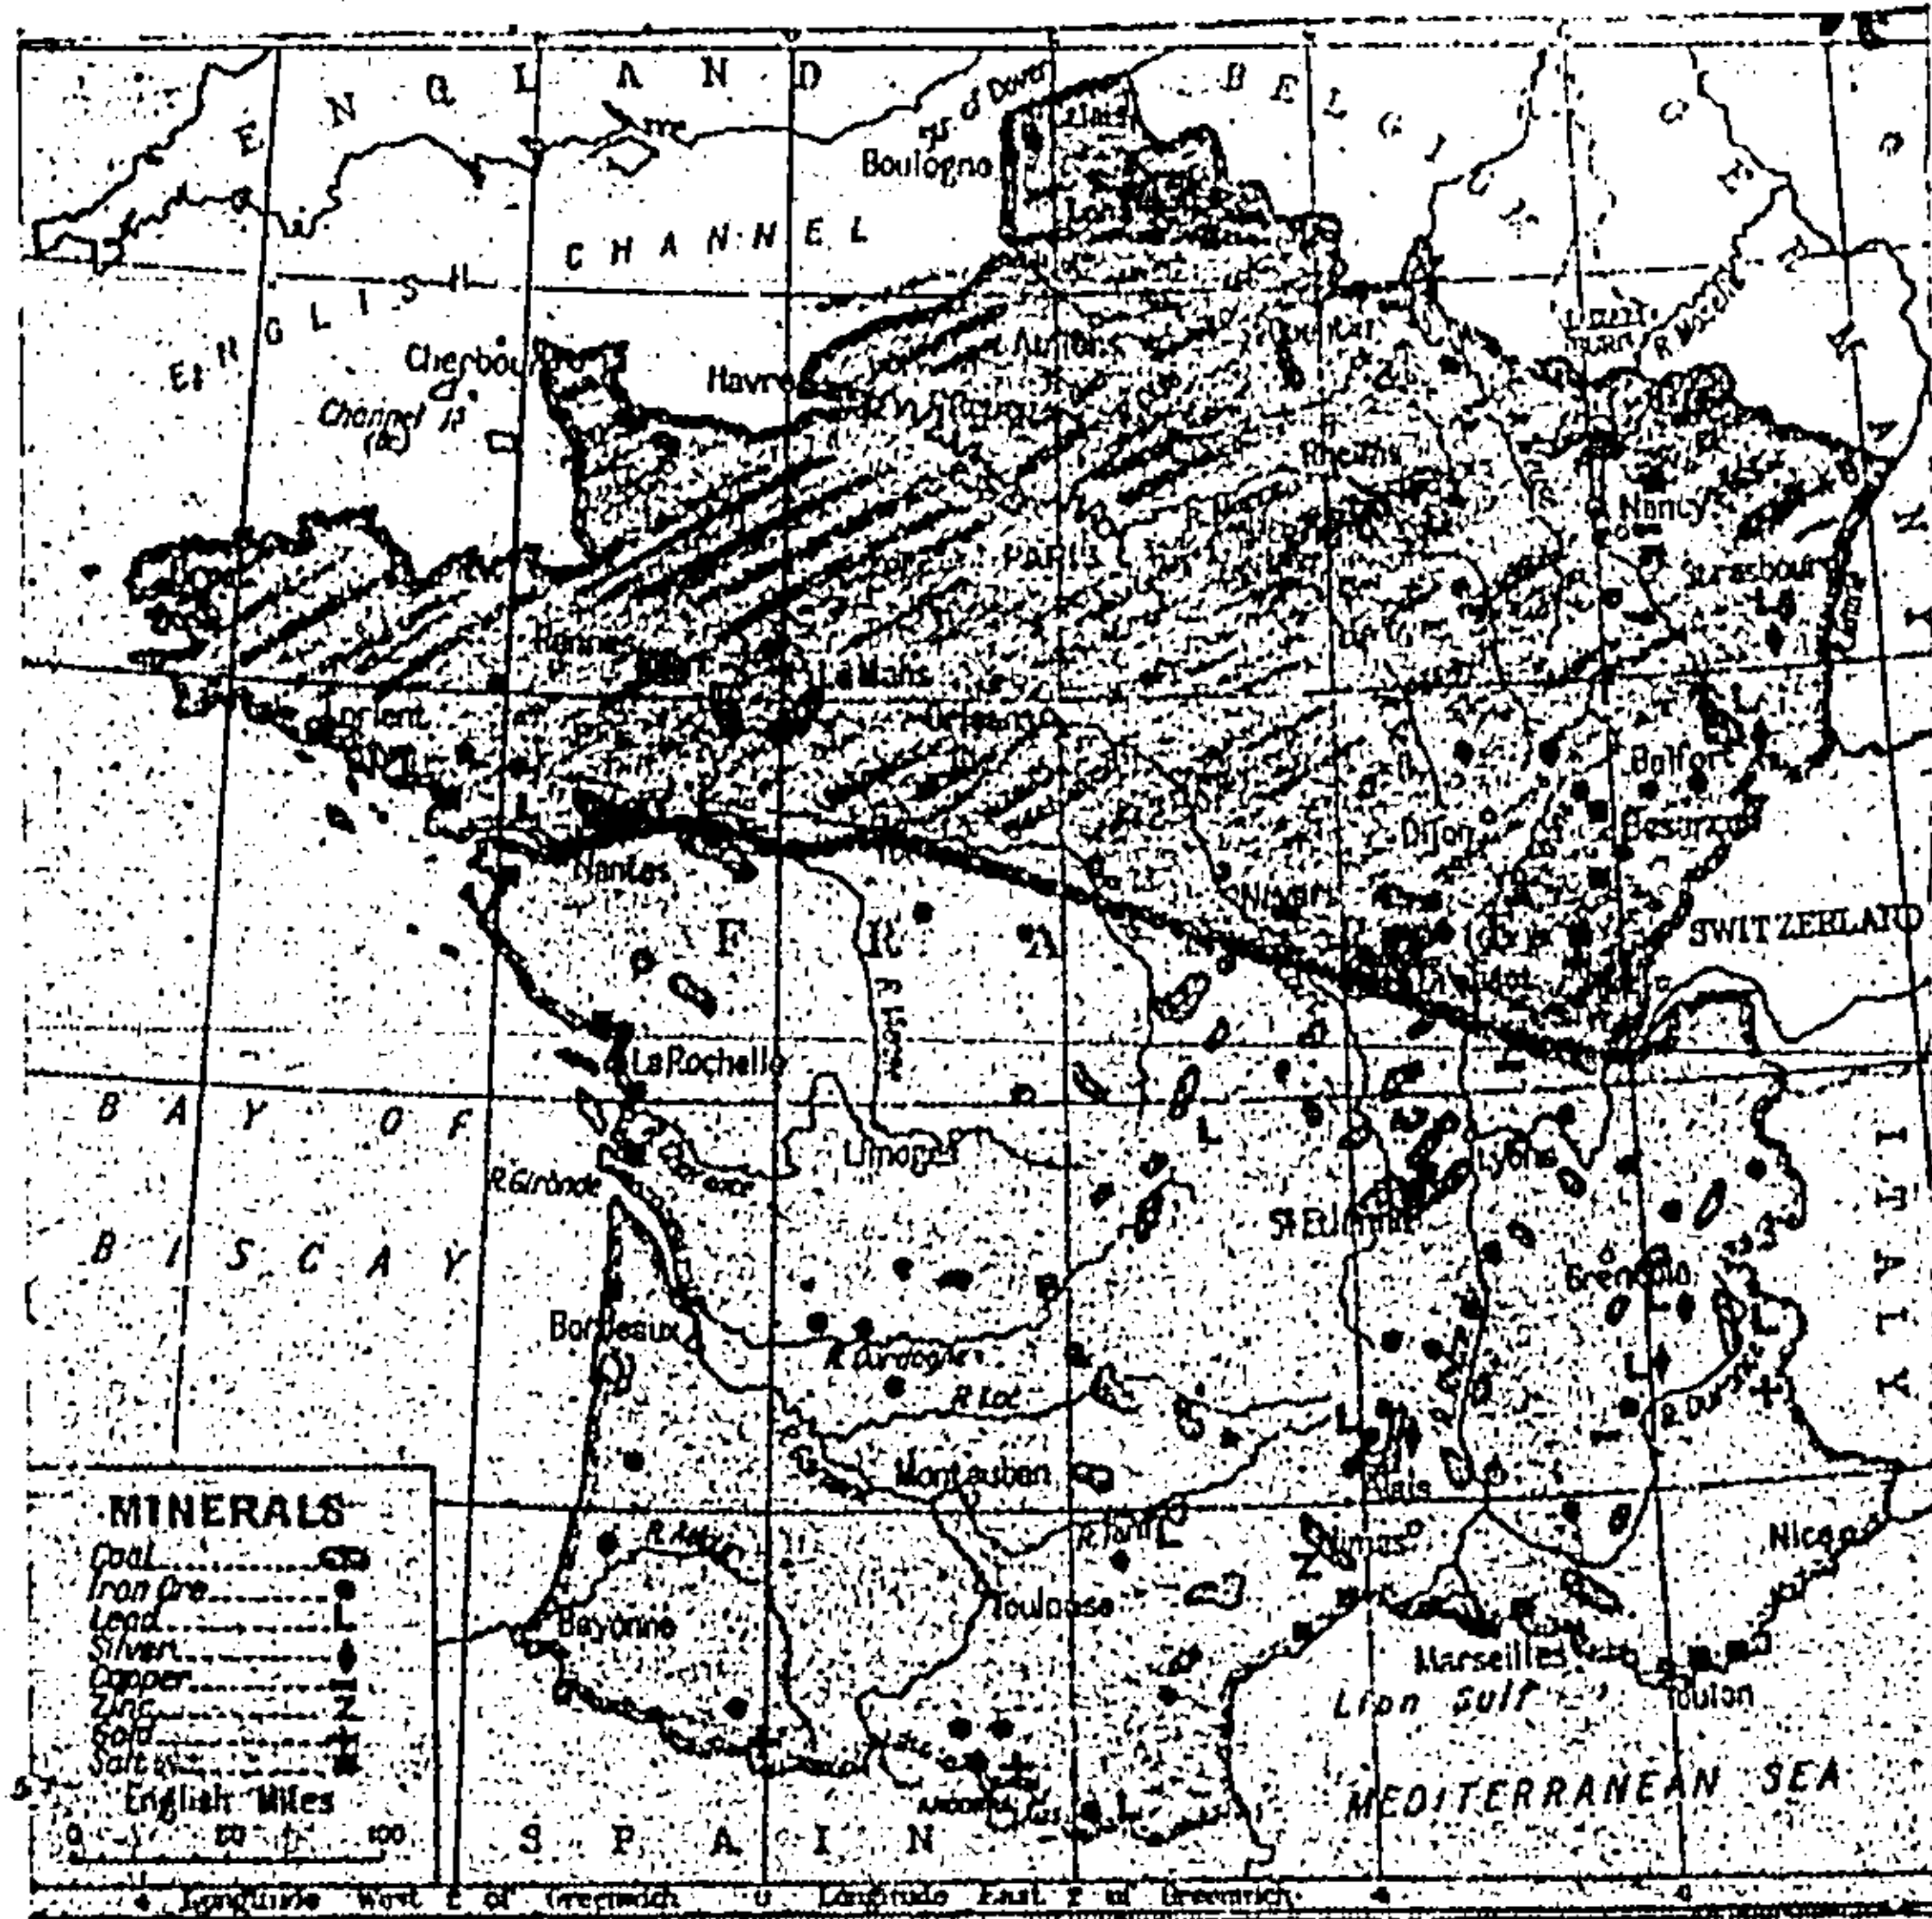

SHANGHAI, TO-DAY.

CHINESE LIVING IN THE SICCAWEI DISTRICT OF SHANGHAI YESTERDAY STARTED AN EXODUS INTO THE FRENCH CONCESSION AND INTERNATIONAL SETTLEMENT FOLLOWING THE CIRCULATION OF REPORTS THAT THE FRENCH AUTHORITIES INTEND TO WITHDRAW THEIR FORCES BACK INTO THE CONCESSION FROM THE SICCAWEI PERIMETER.

It is unconfirmably reported that the French have been conducting negotiations with the Japanese Special Service Section and the City Government of Greater Shanghai concerning such a withdrawal.

It is expected that the French police and military will be evacuated in the near future.

The Siccawei zone is in Chinese territory in the western part of the city; it was occupied by the French as a defence area in 1937.—Reuter.

The shaded portion of this map shows that part of France to be permanently occupied by Germany for the duration of the war. In addition they are to occupy the whole of the coastal strip south of Tours to Bayonne. It is more than likely that Italy will demand occupation of territory in the Maritimes and Savoy Alps.

FRENCH COUNCIL IN SESSION

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

Bordeaux, To-day.

The Council of Ministers met yesterday morning under President Lebrun. Among those who attended the meeting was M. Pierre Laval, who is not a Cabinet Minister.—Havas.

20-MINUTES' SESSION

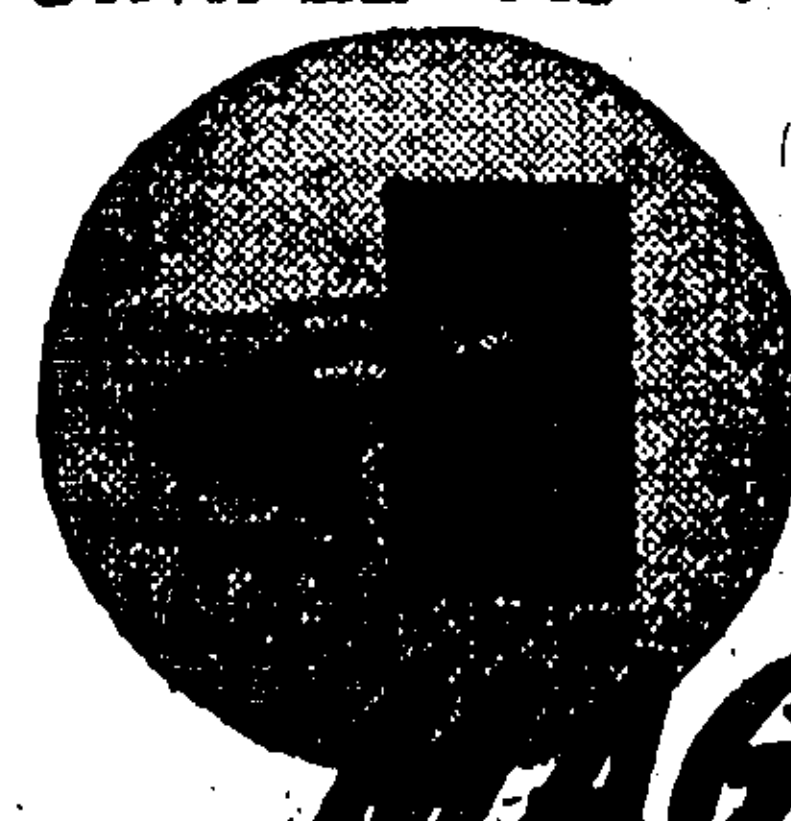

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

Bordeaux, To-day.

The Franco-Italian armistice meeting lasted 20 minutes at the Villa Nazoni, in Rome, yesterday.—Havas.

"MARIE ANTOINETTE"MR. T. V. SOONG
ON SPECIAL MISSION TO AMERICA

MR. T. V. SOONG, HEAD of the Bank of Canton and the Bank of China, is on his way to America, according to authoritative reports received by the "China Mail." The object of Mr. Soong's mission—he is not on a vacation trip—cannot be obtained from official sources.

The "China Mail" learns, however, from usually reliable sources, that Mr. Soong has been entrusted with an important task by the Chinese Government in Chungking.

It is believed his purpose is to negotiate a third loan from the American Government.

Mr. K. P. Chen, General Manager of the Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank, who negotiated the two previous loans left America and is said to be in Manila where he met Mr. Soong prior to the latter's departure to America last week.

Reports over the week-end stating that Mr. Soong is to be appointed Ambassador to America cannot be confirmed.

BELGIUM
ON

London, To-day.

A denial of reports put abroad that the Belgian Government now exiled in Portugal had decided to stop fighting was made by the Belgian Minister, M. Jaspar, in a London broadcast last night.

On the contrary, he said, the war for the liberation of Belgium continued and would continue. He had come to England to ensure that this would be so and he hoped that his colleagues would shortly be able to join him.

The place of Belgians, said M. Jaspar, was beside the British. "We shall bring them considerable resources which are still ours in Europe and in the Congo where the Belgian flag still flies."—Reuter.

ANDERSON
PROVED

London, To-day.

Reports from technical experts show that the small steel shelters known as Anderson shelters, which have been supplied free in vast numbers, provided a striking degree of protection during the recent air raids.

Although many large bombs fell close to these shelters, no occupants were injured.

In one case the crater of a 500-lb. bomb was only 30 feet from such a shelter occupied by two adults and two children. Although the house was badly damaged the shelter stood firm. — Reuter.

ITALIAN BOMBER
DOWNED AT MALTA

Malta, To-day.

An Italian bomber was brought down in the air raid on Malta on Saturday. Two of the seven occupants were captured; the remainder perished.

There were no British casualties. — Reuter.

More Prisoners

Berbera, To-day.

A large Italian bomber made a forced landing near Zeila, most northerly port of British Somaliland. The plane was intact, and the crew was taken prisoner by a patrol of native irregulars. — Reuter.

PRISONERS

BERLIN, TO-DAY.

AN OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE STATES THAT THE BATTLE IN ALSACE-LORRAINE ENDED ON JUNE 22 WITH THE CAPITULATION OF THE FRENCH ARMIES WHICH WERE SURROUNDED. THIS VICTORY OVERPOWERED THE LAST FORCES OF THE FRENCH ARMY STILL FIGHTING.

"Over half a million prisoners were taken, including the commanders of the Third, Fifth and Eighth Armies."

"On the Atlantic Coast, our troops reached La Rochelle and captured the French naval base of St. Nazaire, the booty including many armoured cars."

"In the Rhone Valley, our troops forced a passage across the Rhone at the edge of the Savoy Alps, south-west of Geneva."

The communique further claims that off the French coast, five merchant ships between 3,000 and 10,000 tons were damaged by bombs, that a 10,000-ton transport and another of 4,000 tons were sunk and that a German submarine sank an "enemy tanker of 10,000 tons which was attached to a convoy."—Reuter.

SCHEME FOR SENDING BRITISH CHILDREN OVERSEAS

London, To-day.

MR. GEOFFREY SHAKESPEARE, Under-Secretary for the Dominions, who is chairman of the recently constituted Children's Oversea Reception Board, spoke on the wireless yesterday afternoon about the scheme for sending overseas British children between the ages of five and sixteen whose parents feel they would thus be safer from war risks than by remaining where they are at present.

BRITISH RAIDS IN ABYSSINIA

London, To-day.

A Cairo message gives an official British communique regarding raids into Abyssinia.

Further patrol activity and lightening raids covering an extensive area have been reported from British Somaliland.

In one sector a patrol of native irregulars crossed the frontier from British Somaliland and raided an Italian post occupied by conscript natives. After a slight skirmish the enemy fled, leaving one of their number dead. There were no casualties on the British side.

Two hundred miles to the west a patrol drawn from the Somaliland Camel Corps penetrated over the border and raided another Italian frontier post which was known to be occupied by natives.

On arrival the troops found the post

He explained that the generous offers which the United Kingdom Government had received from various Dominion Governments provided as a beginning for the immediate reception of 20,000 children. He referred also in terms of warm gratitude to a similar movement in the United States.

Mr. Shakespeare emphasised there was no question of mass migration. The plan was limited to sending overseas as many children as possible having regard to the inevitable limitations of shipping, to the number of offers for reception and above all to the need for an orderly, well thought out scheme ensuring the safety and welfare of the children.

Inspiring Thought

It was surely an inspiring thought, he said, that many lovers of freedom far removed from the war zone were ready to look to the safety of Britain's children while she fought the battle of liberty.

These children would come back to their parents when the British arms had achieved final victory as inevitably they must.—British Wireless.

SIEGE OF BRITAIN

"Times" Military Correspondent On The Problems

Invasion Impossible While Air Force And Fleet Remain

London, To-day.

WE KNOW THAT WE HAVE to face all sorts of problems, some of them very difficult, said Captain Cyril Falls, military correspondent of "The Times," in a broadcast talk yesterday.

In the defence of Great Britain, however, we have some assets. We have saved from the wreck seven out of every eight men of the B.E.F. and also the second B.E.F. which was sent to the aid of France just after the great battle began.

We have saved the personnel of the bases established far down to the south-west. We have saved a lot of equipment. We have saved that part of the R.A.F. which was sent to France.

We have at present in Britain a greater number of trained and proved troops than we have ever had in our history.

On the other hand, we have lost much of the heavy equipment of the first B.E.F. We have lost a lot of base stores which could not be withdrawn.

We have lost some aircraft damaged on rutted aerodromes and for which there were no repair facilities. We have lost light craft sunk in the evacuation from Dunkirk.

We now see the enemy with the whole of Western Europe's coast in his grasp, from the Arctic in Norway to the estuary of the Loire.

Outflanked

The enemy outflanks us from Norway and still more from Brittany; not everyone realises, until a map is studied, that Brest, which the Germans have entered, is further west than Plymouth and almost as far west as Land's End.

For the first time since the war began, the enemy have launched heavy air attacks on Britain, although so far without results proportionate to the efforts.

The enemy will probably try an invasion.

Captain Falls does not think a large-scale invasion is possible while the Navy and Air Force remain in being, and he would expect attacks to be made on them first of all, with possible feints against the coast.

Reckless Sacrifice

The Germans have recklessly sacrificed their aircraft in the recent offensive and although they may be able to replace a lot of them, they cannot replace pilots so easily. They do not possess the magnificent material now being provided by the British Empire, and their most highly trained pilots are not equal to ours.

They have not yet produced a fighter to come anywhere near the Defiants, Spitfires and Hurricanes. The Germans have a very grim fight in front of them if they depend on winning supremacy in the air.

The Navy, in part, depends on the existence of the air force. The enemy can hardly hope to compete with it unless he cripples its bases, and although he may damage ships and ports, it is unlikely he will put either out of action while there is an air force in being.

While the Navy and R.A.F. exist, no invasion, on a big or little scale, by parachutists, troop-carriers, ships or a combination of the three, is to be expected.

Defence Of Britain

Turning his attention to Britain from a strategic point of view, Captain Falls dealt with England first. Very roughly, it is a low country with a long chain of hills running from north to south—high in the north, low in the south—with another, lower chain crossing it in the south, the whole hill structure being like a T turned upside down.

From the Thames Estuary to the Humber, the whole coast is flat, with wide sandy beaches on which small landings are possible. On the other hand, large tracts of this area have drainage ditches or sluggish rivers with marshes.

The south-east and southern coasts are more difficult, with high cliffs of either chalk or rock.

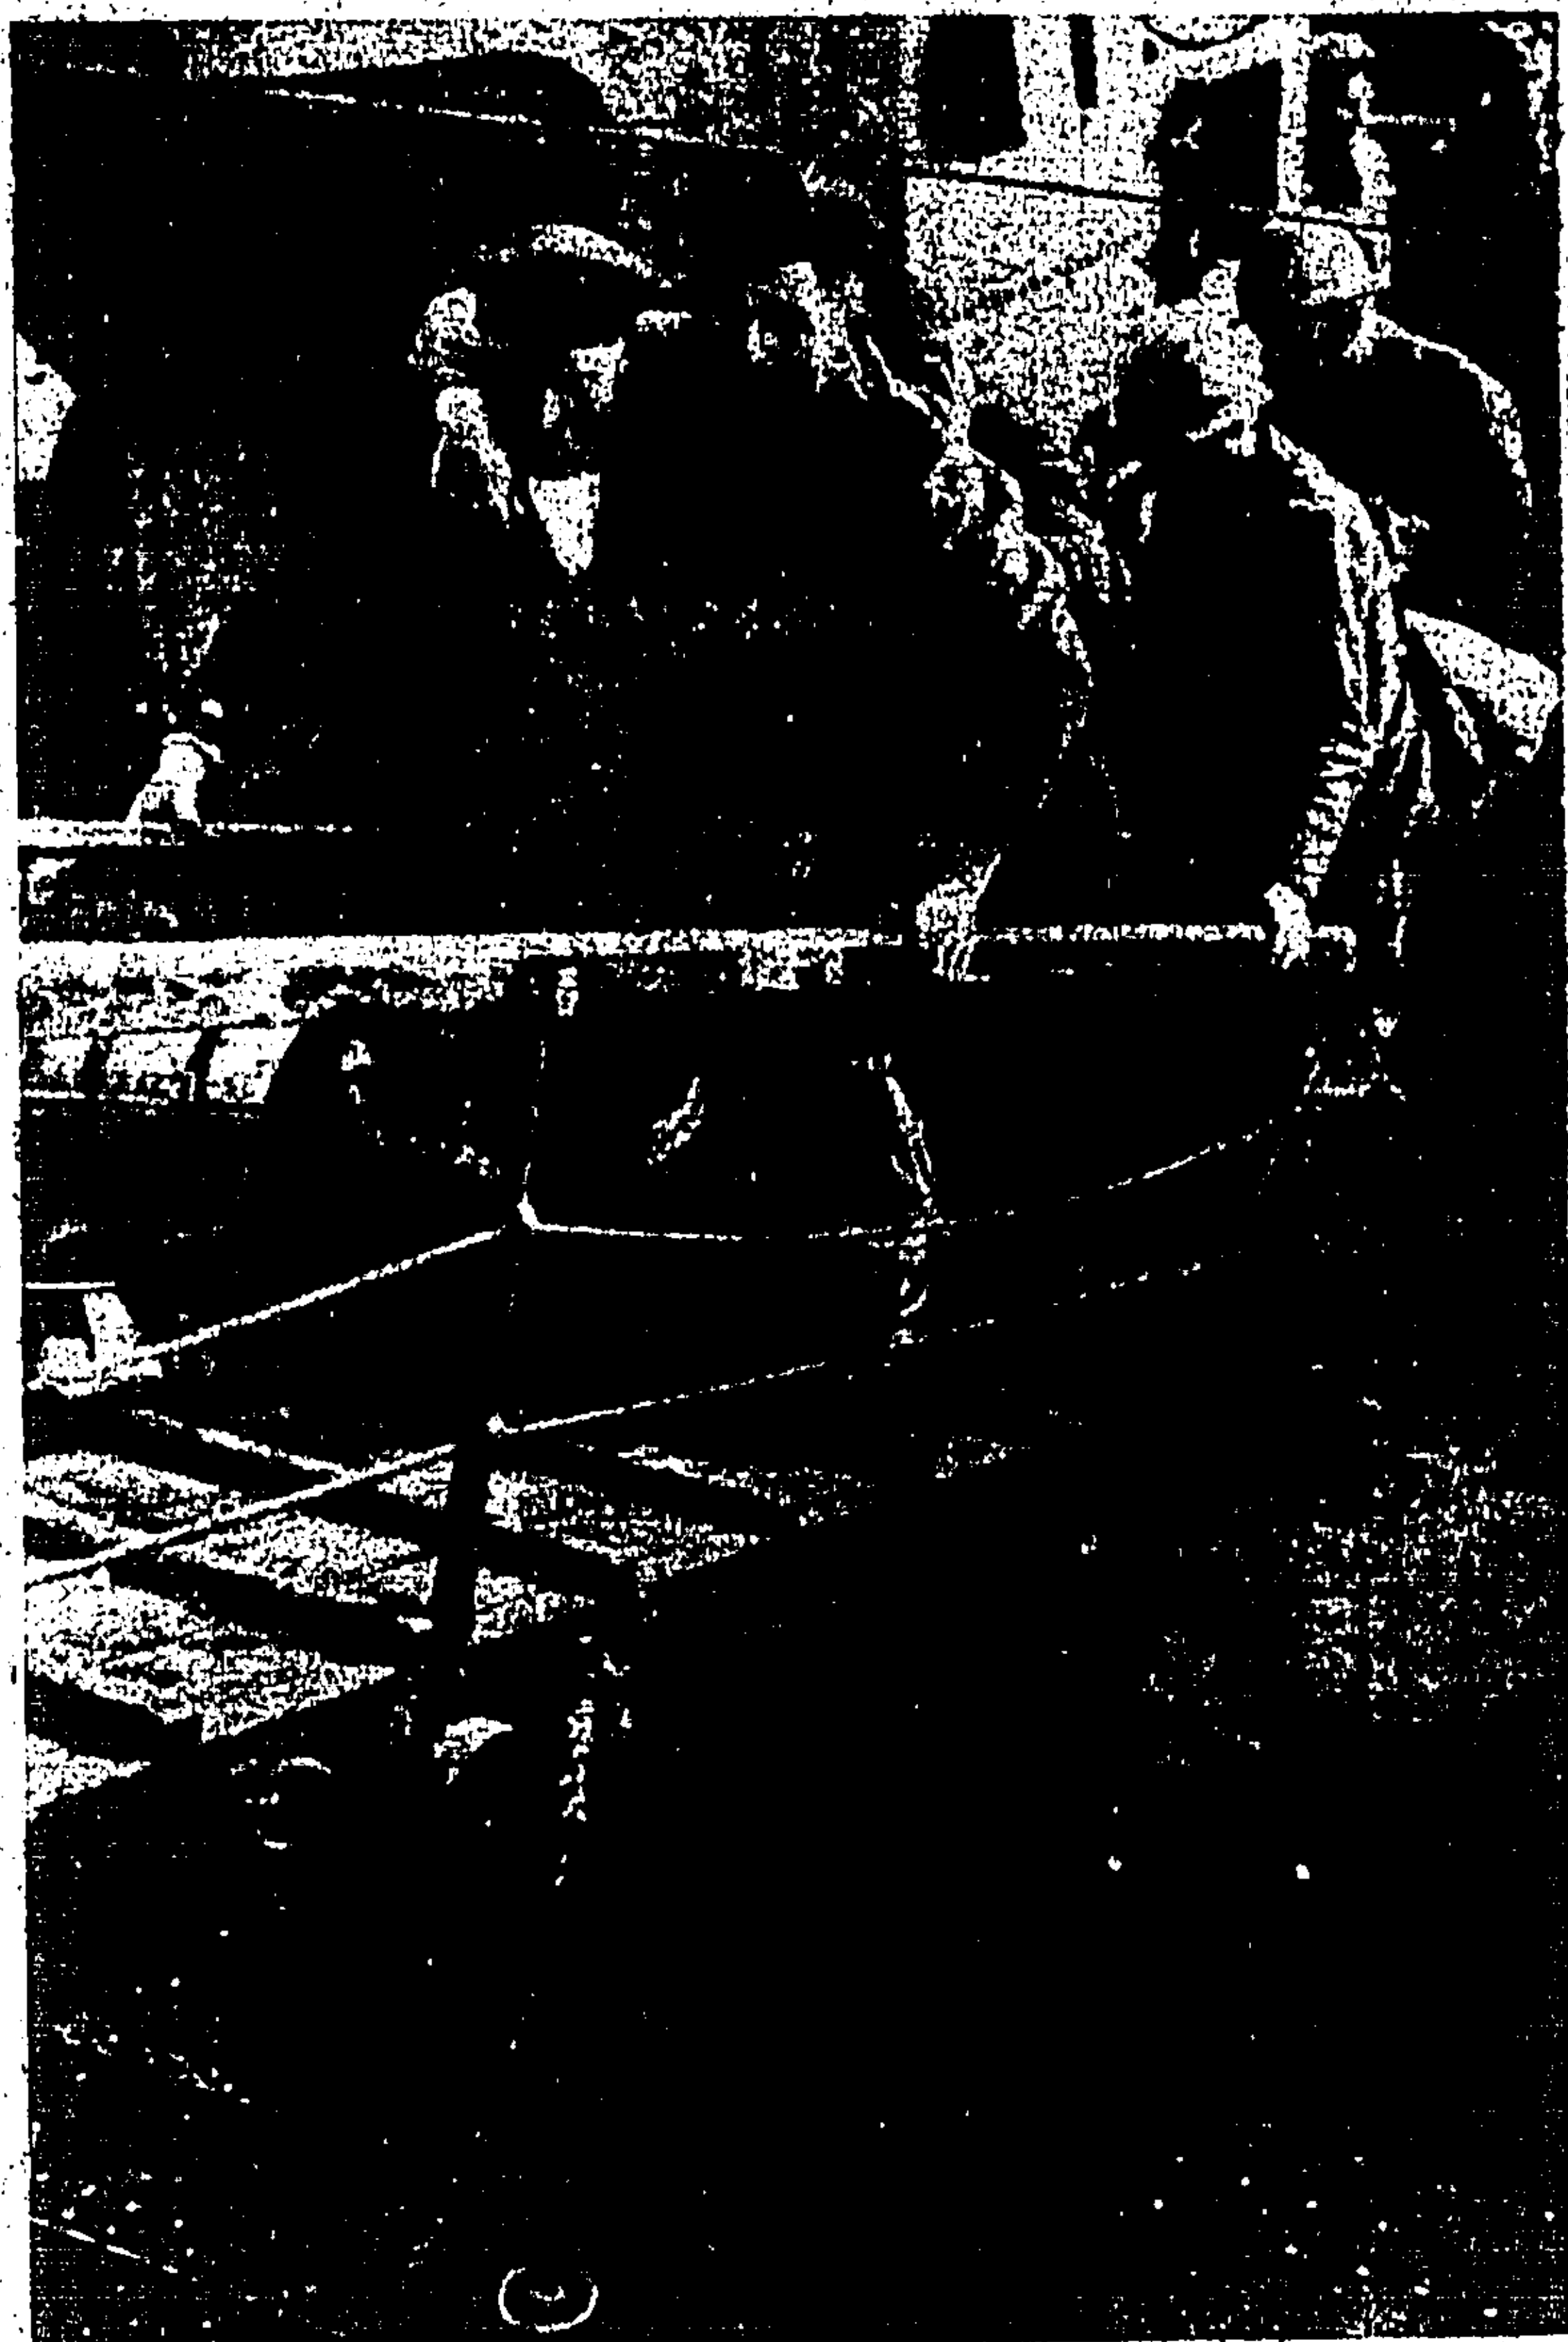

Wales is a mass of mountains, although there are wide valleys.

In Scotland

In Scotland, mountain chains run from east to west. Between the southern and central chains is a district with only occasional hills; Edinburgh is on the east and Glasgow on the west.

Its eastern coast is generally more inhospitable than England's and the west coast is extremely rocky and broken.

Captain Falls does not say that England is ideal for resistance to invasion, but he points out that Britain's internal communications are the best in the world, and mobility is far more important than mountain ranges or deep gorges. We cannot be everywhere on the long coast-line; but it is

TAXICAB COMPANY'S COMPLAINT

Three British soldiers are alleged to have assaulted a taxi-driver shortly after midnight near the Alhambra Theatre.

According to a report by the Blue Taxicab Company, three British soldiers hired taxi No. 751 at the Nathan Hotel Cafe a few minutes after midnight. They ordered the driver, Yu Kwan, to proceed to Shamshuipo.

Near the Alhambra Theatre, the soldier sitting next to the driver, it is alleged, ordered him to "hand over the wheel." The driver refused and then, it is alleged, the soldier struck him.

The driver stopped near the Blue Taxicab Company's garage and ran inside.

The soldiers followed, and the telephone operator in the Garage was assaulted.

A report was made to the Police and the military authorities have been informed.

Investigations are proceeding.

better to be quicker everywhere.

We know that if we were in the enemy's shoes, strong though he is, we would look on the invasion of Britain as a matter of extreme difficulty.

"We don't under-rate his strength and we know what he has accomplished already," concluded Captain Falls, "but we are coolly and calmly preparing to face it, with the main advantages on our side."—Reuter.

TURKISH MINISTER FOR MOSCOW

ISTANBUL, TURKEY, JUNE 17. IT WAS REPORTED HERE TODAY THAT TURKISH FOREIGN MINISTER SUKRU SARACOGU WOULD LEAVE SOON FOR MOSCOW. THE DISCLOSURE CAME AS SOME TURKISH QUARTERS FORECAST A STRUGGLE BETWEEN RUSSIA AND GERMANY FOR INFLUENCE IN TURKEY.

Informed quarters at Ankara said last week that the Turkish government had decided not to take any immediate action as a result of Italy's declaration of war on Turkey's Anglo-French allies.

Turkey informed foreign envoys she would continue her non-belligerent status after Russia had stated that extension of the war to the Balkans would be undesirable. Some quarters thought this indicated a definite Balkan understanding between Germany, Italy and the Soviets.—Associated Press.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

Charged with the theft of a quantity of brass window fittings, the property of Mr. E. H. Frost of No. 132, Argyle Street, Wong Kwan-chiu, 17, was fined $10, or one month's hard labour, by Mr. E. H. Hingworth at Kowloon, this morning. Wong was arrested on Saturday in Reclamation Street by a detective, who saw him offering to sell the fittings to a marine hawk.

JAPAN NOT SURE SHE WANTS NAZIS TO WIN

JUST AN ACHING MEMORY

New York, To-day.

If Germany finally dominates Europe there can be no French Republic except as an aching memory and a deathless hope, said the "New York Times" yesterday.

If an independent France can be restored through British resistance and Germany's downfall there will be a new start, perhaps a Fourth Republic and possibly an Anglo-French Union like that offered by Britain last week.

Another writer in the same paper says that this is merely the end of the first act. It is because the United States foresees the possibility of a struggle for long years, reaching eventually to every corner of the world, that she is arming with unprecedented speed. The struggle will be waged until this issue of world revolution is settled once and for all.—Reuter.

JAPAN TO CUT ALL CHINA COMMUNICATIONS

Chungking, To-day.

It is believed here that Japan is determined to cut communication between China and the outside world through Burma.

Chinese political circles, while admitting that the loss of this route following the French concessions to Japan over traffic in supplies through Indo-China would be serious, express confidence in China's ability to carry on the struggle whatever happens.—Reuter.

SIEGE OF BRITISH ISLES

London, To-day.

Everything indicates Britain will be called upon to meet the greatest siege in the history of man, declared the United States Ambassador, Mr. Joseph Kennedy, broadcasting to America last night an appeal for funds for the American Red Cross in Britain.

"The war has come to Britain. This island now faces all the danger and misery which swept over Poland, Finland, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France."—Reuter.

GREEK FREIGHTER ESCAPES

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

ALGIERS, TO-DAY.

GREEK FREIGHTER ALEXANDRA WAS ATTACKED OFF THE ALGERIAN COAST BY ITALIAN PLANES BUT NOT DAMAGED IT WAS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED HERE.

During the night the Swedish freighter Elgo was bombed by enemy planes. A lifeboat, with 25 men, ran ashore on the Algerian coast. The fate of the crew is not known.

In Algeria itself the situation is absolutely quiet on land and in the air.—Havas.

ANOTHER ITALIAN SUBMARINE SUNK

London, To-day.

An Admiralty communique announces that another Italian submarine has been sunk by gunfire by our light forces operating under the Commander-in-Chief, East Indies.—Reuter.

DOUBTS ABOUT BLESSINGS OF GERMAN VICTORY

Tokyo.

JAPANESE ARE NOT quite as sure to-day, as they were in the immediate past, that a German victory in Europe would constitute an unalloyed blessing for Japan in the Far East.

At the outbreak of war, Germany had the almost unanimous backing of the Japanese, the government, the army, big business, the general public. The reasons were obvious: France and Britain, not Germany, were Japan's chief commercial and political opponents. An important by-product of their defeat, it was thought, could not but be the reduction, and perhaps the complete end, of this opposition.

But the attitude to-day is no longer crystallized, no longer single-surfaced. Other aspects of the situation have appeared, and with them, other attitudes. Here are some of them:

Germany has lost favour enormously, in the eyes of the man of the street, through her violation of Danish, Norwegian, Dutch and Belgian neutrality. Your taxi-driver, waiter, or vegetable vendor, who is blissfully innocent that his own country has been ticketed as one of the world's worst aggressors, will tell you: "This is a shameful thing."

WORRY ABOUT GASOLINE

Contrarily, the Germans have gained ground in the eyes of the Japanese army which is dazzled by Nazi military triumphs. Officers who remembered the long and bloody weeks that elapsed before Chinese fortifications at Nanking and Hsuechow could be reduced, are astounded at the apparent ease with which the Germans, in a few days, penetrated better fortifications in Europe.

Japanese to-day are calling the Maginot Line, the "Makeno Line," which is a pun on the Japanese verb, to be defeated.

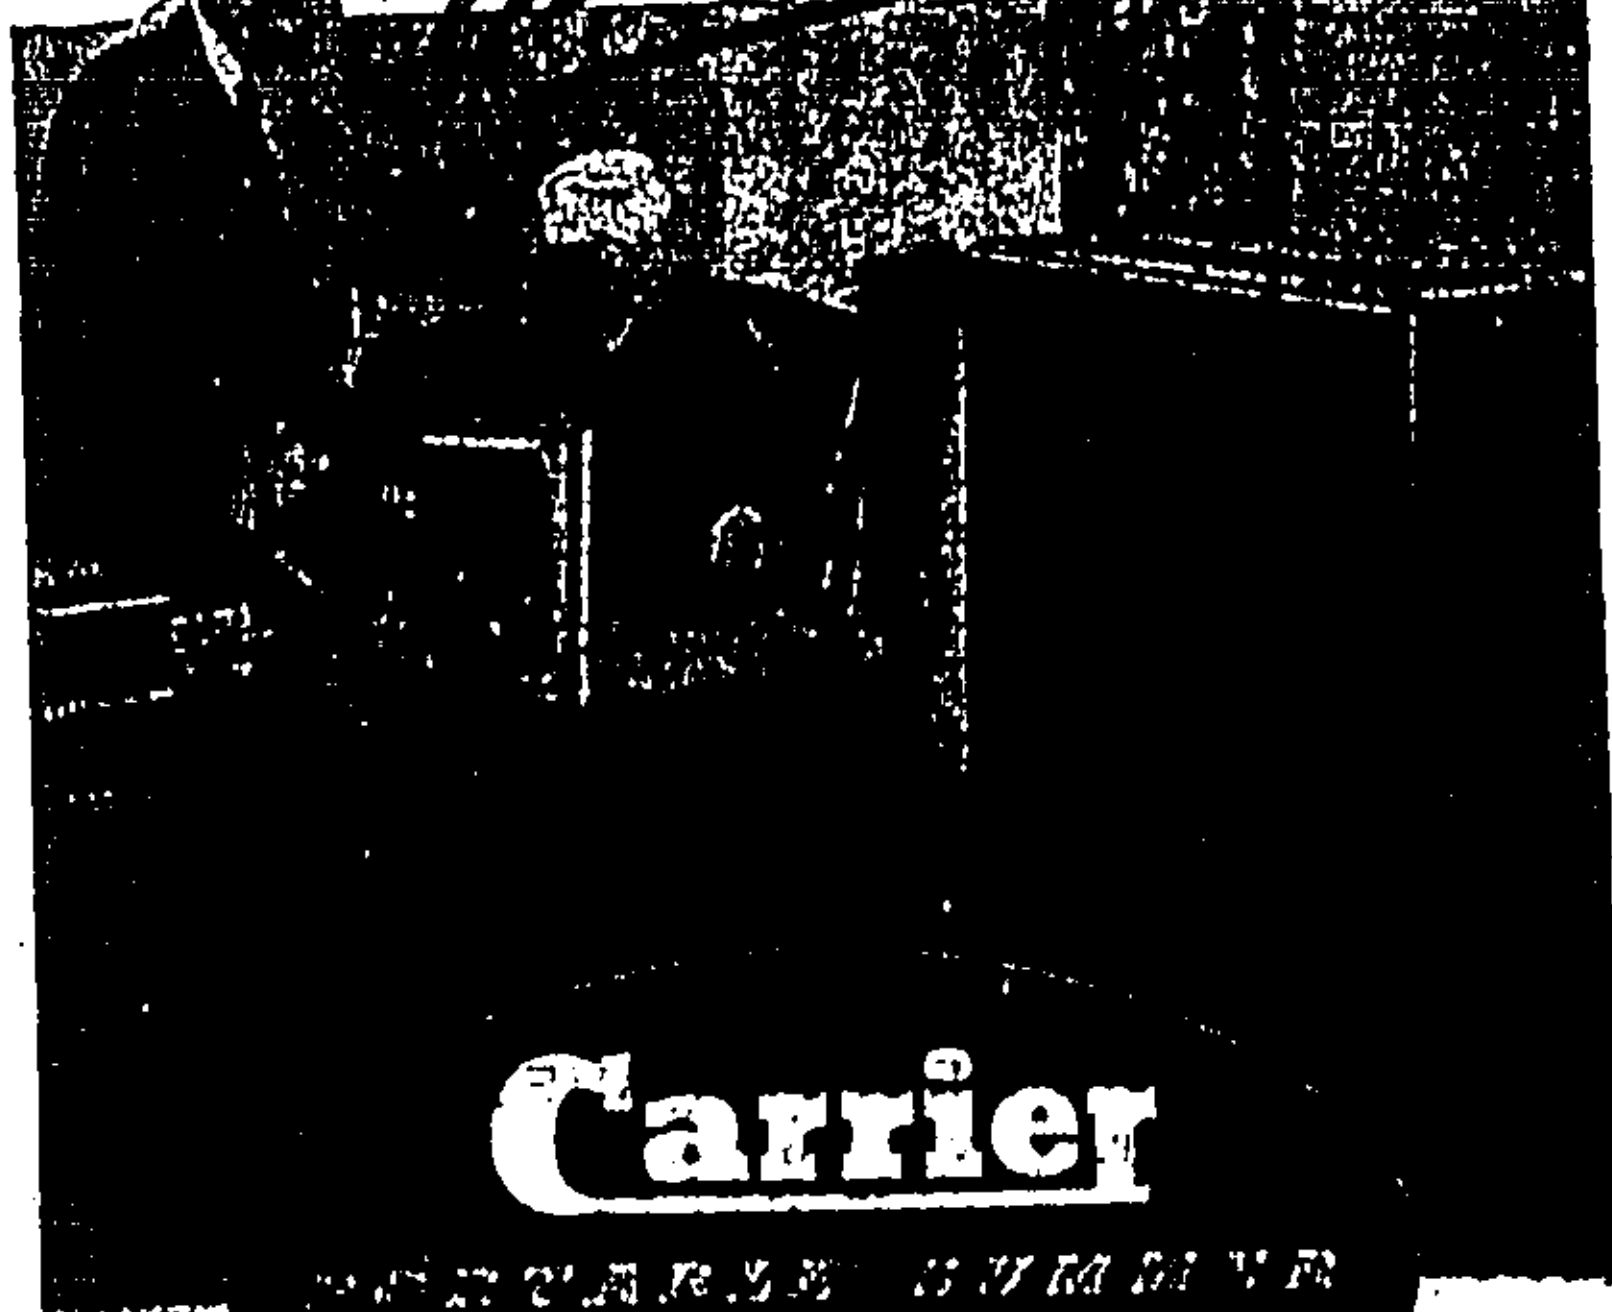

Meanwhile, military circles talk of nothing but "modern" armies as compared to the "old fashioned" type. Grand plans are being drafted for more and more mechanisation, for more tanks, trucks, tractors, machines, aeroplanes.

The corollary mechanisation is gasoline. Oil-thirsty Japan, therefore, has announced "grave concern" about the Netherlands East Indies. The islands are a major source of oil for Japan. The foreign minister sent a circular, emphasising Japan's opposition to any change in their status quo to the United States, Britain, France, Holland, Italy and Germany.

The first four powers assured him, in reply, that they have no intention of interfering with the existing status of the Indies. Italy has not replied. The German answer literally thrilled ambitious, southward-looking Japanese. It told Tokyo that Germany not only does not plan to interfere with the islands, but is "not interested" in the problem.

Air Conditioner

Brings Cool Comfort Immediately!

CARRIER engineers have reduced summer air conditioning to its simplest terms: a compact cabinet that plugs-in like a radio, requires no alterations of any kind. It cools, dehumidifies, gives you clean, draftless ventilation, and freedom from outside noise — for the single room at home, or office.

You just switch it on and off as needed. It is styled to harmonize with home decorations. And it is easily removable to new home or office.

Finally, your assurance of performance is the name Carrier. For 35 years, Carrier has been making such world-famous installations as those in the U.S. Capitol, Radio City, the "Queen Mary," as well as large and small installations in every field in 99 countries of the world.

PETAIN REPLIES TO MR. CHURCHILL

London, To-day.

Marshal Petain yesterday broadcast a statement from Bordeaux replying to Mr. Churchill's appeal, calling on all Frenchmen outside the power of the enemy to aid Britain in the continued struggle against Hitler and stating that His Majesty's Government had learned with grief and amazement that the French Government at Bordeaux had accepted the German-dictated terms.

Marshal Petain said the French Government had heard Mr. Churchill's statement without stupefaction.

"We understand the anguish Mr. Churchill feels for his country. Mr. Churchill is the judge of the interests of his country, but is not the judge of ours which is still left to the honour of France.

"Our flag remains without stain. Our army fought bravely and loyally. Inferior arms and numbers forced us to ask for combat to cease. Nothing can divide the French at the moment when the country suffers. France has not spared her efforts or her blood."—Reuter.

REVOLT AGAINST PETAIN DECISION

Widening Scope Of Response To Rally Cry

LONDON, TO-DAY.

AN INSPIRING MESSAGE TO FRENCHMEN ALL OVER THE WORLD TO CONTINUE THE FIGHT AGAINST GERMANY WAS BROADCAST YESTERDAY BY GENERAL DEGAULLE, UNDER-SECRETARY FOR WAR IN M. REYNAUD'S GOVERNMENT.

He said that the armistice meant that the French force on land, sea and in the air will be completely dismembered; that the whole territory of France will be occupied and the French Government will be under the domination of Germany and Italy.

This attitude would be one not only of capitulation but also servitude. Many Frenchmen do not accept either capitulation or servitude. Their reasons are honour, common sense and the supreme interests of their country.

Honour — because France agreed not to lay down her arms except in agreement with her Allies.

While the Allies continue the war, she has not the right to surrender to the enemy. The Governments of Poland, Holland, Norway, Belgium and Luxemburg have been driven from their countries, but they have understood their duty.

Common sense — because it is absurd to consider the war lost. France still has a great Empire, an undefeated Navy and a great reserve. The Allies, with their immense resources, dominate the sea. And most of the resources of America's industry are open to them.

Supreme Interest

The supreme interest of their country — because this war is not a Franco-German war that can be decided by one battle. This is a world war.

Honour, common sense and the supreme interest of their country command all free Frenchmen to continue the struggle, wherever they may be and in whatever way they can.

They must assemble as great a French force as possible, wherever possible. Every French military soldier or everything possible for armament production must be assembled and organised.

National Task

Here, in England, he undertakes this national task, and he invites every French soldier on land, sea or in the air, all French engineers and skilled armament workers to gather around him.

He invites officers and men, sailors and airmen to get in touch with him. He invites all Frenchmen who still remain free to listen to him and to follow him.

He concluded:—"Long live France, free in her honour and in her independence!"—Reuter.

Syria To Fight

London, To-day.

The French High Commissioner in Syria, broadcasting on the Beirut radio last night, said, "The General Officer Commanding in Syria, General Mittelhauser, has decided to carry on the mission of France in Syria and defend with indomitable energy the honour of France and her flag."

The French High Commissioner added he was in complete agreement with General Mittelhauser.—Reuter.

Pro-British Demonstration In Saigon

Saigon, To-day.

There was a demonstration outside the British Consulate in Saigon yesterday, when the crowds called for the acceptance by France of the British offer for a Franco-British Union and for France to continue the struggle.

Marshal Petain Mr. Churchill's broadcast annoyed him.

FIGHTING IN HUPEH

Chungking, To-day.

Military advices from the Hupeh front indicate that the Japanese principal communication lines west of the Han River have been cut. The Chinese are astride the Shasi-Siang-yang highway.

A column driving along the west bank of the Han River has recaptured Lengshuiipu, opposite Hungsiang. Lihokow, a river crossing north of Lengshuiipu, has also been regained. The Japanese there were subjected to an encircling attack and dispersed. Two pontoon bridges built by the Japanese were destroyed. Japanese communications between Kingmen and Chungsiang have been severed.—Central News.

FRENCH COMMUNIQUE

Bordeaux, To-day.

An official communique states: "The situation is without notable change except along the Atlantic coast where the Germans continue to advance in the direction of Rochefort, Saintes and Cognac.

On the Alpine front, there was continuation of the Italian attempt to progress. On the whole, we still hold our advanced positions.—Reuter.

gle.

The British Consul, in a short speech, said that France was still alive and Britain would do everything in her power to assist her to victory.—Reuter.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE SET UP

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

London, To-day.

The constitution of a "French National Committee," representing "the interests of the Fatherland and citizens resolved to maintain the independence of our country," was announced by General de Gaulle, Chief of Military Operations in Reynaud's Cabinet, in a broadcast in French.

Stating that the armistice accepted gives the enemy French arms, planes, gold and ships, General de Gaulle said: "This capitulation has enslaved France completely and has placed the Government at Bordeaux under immediate and direct dependence on the Germans and Italians.

"The French people have no chance to make known their real will and therefore, in agreement with the British Government, a French National Committee, representing the interests of the Fatherland and its citizens resolved to maintain the independence of our country, keep the obligations undertaken by France and contribute to the war effort until common victory with the Allies is reached, has been formed."

Composition of the National Committee would be published in the near future.

War Not Lost

The General appealed to Belgians to join in the defence of their nation's liberty, and added the Committee would give account of its action to "a French Government independent and legal as soon as such a Government exists again," and will take under its direction all French citizens at present on British soil.

He concluded: "The war is not lost. The Fatherland is not dead. Long live France."—Havas.

CALM AND QUIET ON THE BORDER

THE SITUATION ALONG THE BORDER IN THE NEW TERRITORIES THIS MORNING WAS QUIET AND CALM AND EVERYTHING IS NORMAL EXCEPT FOR THE PRESENCE OF THE POLICE MANNING THE APPROACHES; THE PATROLLING OF JAPANESE SENTRIES ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE LO WU BRIDGE, AND THE SEVERANCE OF COMMUNICATIONS.

The influx of refugees has ceased, and the majority of the thousands which crossed on Saturday are encamped on the hillsides at San Uk Ling.

The Japanese have not yet reached Shataukok and are presumably still at Lo Fong, apparently awaiting reinforcements before pushing further eastwards.

Several Japanese vessels are reported to have arrived in Bias Bay yesterday and last night they were observed playing their searchlights on the mainland. There has as yet been no attempt to land in that area.

The Japanese force in the border does not exceed, according to authoritative sources, 800 to 1,000.

Farmers Warned In Time

There were persistent rumours last week that the Japanese and puppets would invade the Shumchun area again. The farmers were therefore warned to be in readiness for evacuation so that they were not taken unawares as on former occasions.

The field workers of the Rural Welfare Centre, residing in Wong Pui Ling, Sheung Po, Tsoi Yuk Wai, Shumchun, Lowu, Gai Chi Hai, and Po Sum were ordered to evacuate at 6 a.m. on Saturday.

They immediately carried out plans prepared for the emergency and began their trek with farmers three hours after the Japanese had landed.

About 800 to 1,000 strong and aided by 10 planes, the Japanese force reached Shatau where the flood waters of the Tai Sha Ho held them up and gave time for the evacuation of the area to be carried out.

In the meantime, Japanese planes concentrated on the Magistracy, police and party offices in Shumchun. These were bombed and machine-gunned.

New Effort

The farmers evacuating from the Shumchun area are partly accommodated in the Man Kam To refugee camp, while others are scattered in the neighbourhood of Ta Ku Ling, Lui Po, and Lok Ma Chau.

As soon as the Hong Kong authorities designate sites at which these people will be allowed to stay, the Shumchun Rural Welfare Centre propose measures to enable the refugee farmers to maintain themselves by

THE AIR MINISTRY announces that bomber aircraft of the R.A.F. on Saturday delivered a daylight attack on the enemy-occupied aerodrome at Merville, to the west of Lille.

Despite heavy anti-aircraft fire, a series of shallow dive attacks was made on the hangars as well as on aircraft on the landing ground.

During the day offensive patrols were flown by our fighters over France and as a result of an encounter, one Messerschmidt 110 was shot down and it is considered that a further six enemy aircraft are missing. One of our fighters is missing.

It is now established that in the course of night attacks on this country by enemy aircraft in the last week, two enemy bombers were brought down and destroyed by our balloon barrage.

These two enemy losses are additional to those already reported as having been inflicted by our fighter aircraft and anti-aircraft gunfire.—Reuter.

Near East Air Activity

London, To-day.

R.A.F. communiques reported in news messages from Cairo state an Italian three-engined bomber was engaged by an R.A.F. fighter off Malta on Saturday and after a fight lasting some time the Italian plane broke in half and crashed into the sea.

Reconnaissance to flights were successfully carried out over Italian East Africa and valuable data was obtained.

In a raid on Macaca a direct hit was registered on a compound.

At Diradowa, R.A.F. bombers attacked the aerodrome and one aircraft was set on fire and another damaged.

From the Sudan various raids were carried out on military concentration at Asosa, in Ethiopia, and considerable damage was done to barracks despite heavy anti-aircraft fire.

It is also stated that aircraft of the Aden Command co-operated successfully with the Navy in the attack on the Italian submarine the capture of which by an armed trawler was announced by the Admiralty on Saturday.—British Wireless.

CHINESE CHARGED WITH DRUNKENNESS

A 31-year-old painter, Li Mantung, was charged before Mr. H. G. Sheldon, K.C., this morning with being drunk and disorderly in Li Tung Street; and with assaulting Sgt. Morrison.

Defendant said that he did not know what happened at the time as he was "dead drunk."

Sgt. Morrison was bitten on the right thumb, when he attempted to pick up the defendant.

The case was adjourned to Friday, bail of $50 being allowed.

poultry raising and agriculture. In the meantime, poultry and stock will be accommodated at Fanling, where seasonal crops are growing, and additional land will be put into cultivation.

Wounded Man

Crossing the border yesterday after Japanese aircraft had machine-gunned Cheuk Mei Village on Saturday, a 27-year-old Chinese Wong Kin-yeung, was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital, suffering from a bullet wound.

ARMISTICE TALKS WITH ITALY BEGIN

Berlin, To-day.

The official news agency learns from Rome that the French representatives in the Armistice negotiations with Italy arrived in Rome in three German planes yesterday afternoon.

The negotiations were expected to start immediately.

The French plenipotentiaries consist of six officers, various secretaries and M. Leon Noel, French Ambassador to Poland.

They were received by four Italian high officials and all were driven to a villa the whereabouts of which were kept secret.—Reuter.

Italy's Delegation

London, To-day.

Rome radio states the Italian delegates in the armistice talks are Count Ciano (Foreign Minister), Marshal Badoglio (Chief of Staff of the armed forces), Admiral Cavaganari (Chief of Staff of the Navy), General Roatta (Chief of Staff of the Army) and General Pricolo (Chief of Staff of the Air Force).

The Italian terms were handed to the French plenipotentiaries at 5.30 p.m. The latter were the same delegates as signed the armistice with Germany, together with General Parisot.—Reuter.

AUSTIN ROAD INCIDENT

How two European boys, whose names were not disclosed, were followed by a suspicious character, was revealed before Mr. E. Himsworth at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning by Detective-Sergeant Bethel.

Sergeant Bethel said that about 3.10 p.m. on Saturday a Chinese constable observed a youth following two European lads in Austin Road, paying them unusual attention.

The constable detained him and, searching him, found a package of pepper and a razor blade.

Charged this morning with possession of the blade for an unlawful purpose, accused, Wong Ngau, 12, was sentenced to three months' hard labour.

TAILOR'S THEFT

Before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Magistracy this morning, Tai Wang-yuen, 33, tailor, was charged with the theft of a fur coat, valued at $300, between January 20 and June 23. The coat belonged to Miss Tsang So-lan, of No. 94, Wellington Street.

It was alleged that the fur coat was given to defendant to repair.

Three months later, defendant told Miss Tsang that the coat had been stolen by one of his foks. One of the defendant's foks, however, told her that defendant had sold the coat to pay his debts.

Sentence of two months' hard labour was imposed.

POST OFFICE PICKPOCKET CAUGHT

Li Kwok-fu, 20, was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour by Mr. R. Edwards this morning, for the theft of $30 from Cheung Chan at the General Post Office on Saturday and for a breach of the Deportation Ordinance.

At about 10 a.m. on Saturday, Cheung was purchasing stamps at the counter in the G.P.O., when defendant put a handkerchief over his pocket, while another man extracted the money.

JUNKMAN CHARGED

Before Mr. E. Himsworth at Kowloon this morning, Kwok Hung, 65, master of junk, No. 927Y, was fined $10, or one month's hard labour, for stealing 20 lbs. of cement and a piece of wood.

Kwok Hung was alleged to have removed the articles from the Kowloon Wharf and then rowed away in his sampan. A watchman saw him and boarding another sampan, chased and arrested accused.

MIRROR OF WORLD OPINION

VIGILANCE

German arms now lie where Napoleon mustered his flat-bottomed boats for our invasion, and it warns us that it would be foolish to ignore the chances of a German attempt to land here. Moral is not preserved by closing the eyes. Too much has been lost in this war already by refusals to believe that certain things could happen. Norway's snow mountains could not be crossed, the Skagerrak was a gauntlet that could not be run, the Meuse was a sufficient barrier. Let us then quietly assume the possibility of an attempt at invasion and make preparations for it. If for the first time we look the worst squarely in the face we may for the first time be ready to repel it. But there is also that other kind of "invasion," by parachute. We are now organising willing volunteers to meet this extremely possible threat, but we must not feel secure, for their task will not be an easy one. Our idea of parachutists has often been formed by some public demonstration when the man leaves his aeroplane at a height and glides leisurely to earth, in ideal mark, one would say, for a good shot. But the Germans would probably be preceded by an intense aerial bombardment of the chosen area, and they do not come down from a great height. Their parachutes open as they leave the plane and they are in the air for a second or so at the most. That leaves little room for marksmanship, especially in the dark, and when they come down they are heavily armed. There are innumerable tricks in this way of warfare. Defence against this sort of attack must be prepared with originality and carefulness. Nor should we think only of the eastern and southern counties and the London district. Germany seldom does what is most expected. The Government must not let the western part of this island slip from its mind. Let us remember the ubiquity of German suddenness and how she makes a policy of violating the most innocent neutrals, and then we shall look keenly towards the west as well as to the south. It is not easy to catch the nocturnal parachutist before he can do damage enough. One of the best measures to take would be to organise a still more elaborate system of report than already exists throughout the country.

It is now nearly the last moment for searching out and removing any weaknesses in the front we have long got ready against what is now the more commonplace danger of attack from the air. We know that certain of the A.R.P. services are still below establishment. This, particularly in the Auxiliary Fire Service, makes the work of part-time men doubly essential. Have they been fully equipped and warned of where they are expected to report? We shall learn a lot from the first raids, but the more ready we can make ourselves now the slighter the first damage. For eight hours a day at least the part-time fireman is at work, probably far away from the station to which he is normally attached. Directly the air-raid warning sounds he is now supposed to report to the nearest station to his place of work. But does each of these stations in the working centre know exactly how many of these unwonted helpers it is to expect? Have their place and duty been carefully provided for? Is a duplicate of their equipment ready, for they cannot be expected to carry a cumbersome uniform about with them? Unless arrangements of this kind have been made the part-time men will only be throwing their weight into the defences some hours after the attack. What of the individual householder, who from the first days of A.R.P. has been held responsible for the attempt to put out a fire on his own premises? The Government is at last thinking of giving each street a few stirrup pumps and other equipment. Because it is delayed, all the more speed in supplying it should be shown. The zeal of neighbours in helping one another should not be wasted.

The day is gone when everything can be left to the organised home defence services. "Total" war justifies its name by confronting everyone, and all able-bodied people have their part to play in a raid. Stronger minds can prepare now for that work, not found in any manual, of maintaining the spirits of easily frightened persons. That kind of leadership carries no badge of rank, but in the dangerous and trying hour the men or women who have steeled themselves to calm and steadiness will do a great service to their country. One thing still has importance. There has been so much grumbling and so many jokes about the black-out that it has lost something of its seriousness. If we look over the stories of the Spanish war, when behind each front were men who wished the victory of the other side, we find that the lit skylight was a well-known treachery. But the most loyal can often be the most careless. Some of those who talk of nothing but Fifth Columns and enemy "agents" will be found among those who have neglected to black-out their own houses properly. This is no longer a venial sin. The chink of light may betray the town to doubtful bombing pilots above; it is a forgetfulness without excuse for which a whole community may suffer. — "Manchester Guardian."

RESPONSIBILITIES OF EMPIRE

It justly fell to Mr. MacDonald, who has relinquished to Lord Lloyd the large and progressive policy inaugurated during his distinguished tenure of the Colonial Office, to introduce in the House of Commons yesterday the Bill required to make the necessary financial provision. In doing so he was fortunate in being able to tell the House that his successor would have the assistance, in the two key positions of the new scheme, of the men whose labours have done most in recent years to illuminate for the nation the problems with which their Imperial responsibilities now confront them. Lord Hailey's famous "African Survey" first brought home to his countrymen the immense range and complexity of the subjects on which exact knowledge needed to be attained; the author now accepts the chairmanship of the new Colonial Research Advisory Committee. Lord Moyne presided over the recent Royal Commission on the West Indies, whose recommendation for a large-scale development in the islands at the expense of the Imperial Treasury was instantly accepted by the Government and extended to the whole Colonial Empire; as Chairman of the Colonial Development and Welfare Advisory Committee he will take a predominant part in putting his recommendations into practice. — "The Times."

Germany To Occupy Largest Part Of France

THE TERMS THAT PETAIN ACCEPTED

LONDON, TO-DAY.

THE FOLLOWING IS A COMPLETE SUMMARY OF THE ARTICLES OF THE ARMISTICE TERMS CONVEYED BY THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT TO THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

Article I. Immediate cessation of hostilities. French troops already surrounded to lay down their arms.

Article II. For the security of German interests, the territory north and west of the following line to be occupied: Geneva, Chalon-sur-Saone, Paray le Monial, Moulins, Bourges, Vierzon, then to 20 kilometres east of Tours, and thence south parallel to the Angoulême railway to Mont de Marsan and St. Jean de Pied de Port. Areas not yet occupied in this territory to be occupied immediately on conclusion of the present convention.

Article III. In the occupied area, Germany to have all the rights of an occupying power, excluding local administration. The French Government to afford all necessary facilities. Germany will reduce to a minimum the occupation of the western coast after the cessation of hostilities with Great Britain. The French Government is free to choose for itself the seat of government in non-occupied territory or even to transfer it to Paris if desired. In the latter event Germany will allow the necessary facilities for administration from Paris of both occupied and unoccupied territory.

Article IV. The French naval, military and air forces to be demobilised and disarmed within a period to be decided with the exception of troops necessary for maintaining order. The size and armament of the latter to be decided by Germany and Italy, respectively. French armed forces in occupied territory to be brought back into unoccupied territory and demobilised. These troops will previously have laid down their arms and material at places where they are at the moment of the armistice.

Surrender Of Weapons

Article V. As guarantee, Germany may demand the surrender in good condition of all artillery, tanks and anti-tank weapons, service aircraft, infantry armaments, tractors and munitions in territory not to be occupied. Germany will decide the extent of these deliveries.

Article VI. All arms and war material remaining in unoccupied territory which are not left for the use of French authorised forces is to be put in store under German or Italian control. Manufacture of new war material in non-occupied territory to stop immediately.

Article VII. Land and coast defences with armaments etc in occupied territory to be handed over in good condition. All plans of fortifications, particulars of mines, barrages etc. to be handed over.

French Fleet

Article VIII. The French fleet, except that part left free to safeguard French interests in the Colonial Empire, shall be collected in ports to be specified, demobilised and disarmed under German or Italian control. The German Government solemnly declares [For what that is worth] that it has no intention of using for its own purposes during the war the French fleet stationed in ports under German control, except those units necessary for coast surveillance and mine-sweeping. Except for that part (to be determined) of the fleet destined for the protection of colonial interests all ships outside French territorial waters must be recalled to France.

Article IX. All information about naval mines and defences to be furnished. Mine-sweeping to be carried on by French forces.

Article X. All establishments and military tools and stocks in occupied territory to be handed over intact. Ports, permanent fortifications, naval building yards to be left in the present state and not destroyed or damaged. The same to apply to all means of communication, particularly railways, roads, canals, telephones, telegraphs, navigational and coast lighting marks. Material for repairs to be made available.

Other Conditions

Article XI. All wireless transmitting stations in French territory to stop.

Article XII. The French Government to facilitate the transport of merchandise between Germany and Italy across unoccupied territory.

Article XIII. The French Government to repatriate the population to occupied territory.

Article XIV. The French Government to prevent the transfer of valuables and stocks from occupied to non-occupied territory or abroad.

Article XV. The cost of maintaining German occupying troops to be paid by France.

Article XVI. All German prisoners of war to be released. The French Government to hand over all German subjects indicated by the German Government who are now in France or her overseas territory.

Article XVII. All French prisoners of war now in German hands to remain so until the conclusion of peace.

Article XVIII provides for the safeguard of material handed over.

Article XIX. The German armistice commission will carry out the armistice, co-ordinating with the Franco-Italian armistice.

Valid Till Peace Treaty

Article XX. The armistice will enter into force as soon as the French Government has concluded a similar agreement with the Italian Government. Cessation of hostilities six hours after the Italian Government notifies its conclusion. The German Government will announce this by wireless.

Article XXI. The present armistice is valid until the conclusion of the peace treaty and can be denounced at any moment if the French Government do not fulfil their obligations.

It was stated in London last night that the French Government put forward certain relatively unimportant amendments, some of which, it is understood, have been accepted and others rejected.

However, the terms remain substantially as set forth above.—Reuter.

Allowed To Exist On Sufferance

Authoritative comment in London on the terms is:

"The upshot of the armistice terms may be described as follows: The terms compel France to hand over to Germany her armed forces, her stocks and material, as well as to place the greater part of French territory at the disposal of Germany for the prosecution of the war against Britain.

"The French Government will continue to exist on sufferance in a relatively small area, but will be completely dependent upon Germany.

"No clue is given as to the terms of peace, but it seems clear that Germany has no intention of discussing peace at the present stage.

"In a word, the terms of the armistice exact the complete capitulation of France.

"M. Baudoin, Marshal Petain's Minister for Foreign Affairs, declared a few days ago that France would not accept humiliating or shameful terms.

It is difficult to see how the terms could be more humiliating or what could be more shameful than to hand over territory and material for war against an ally with whom France has a solemn agreement not to conclude a separate peace.

Treaty Violation

"This treaty, as well as M. Baudoin's undertaking, has been violated by Petain's Government and their breach of faith is bitterly resented and condemned not only by all Frenchmen overseas but also by the mass of

BRITISH OFFICIAL DECISION

London, To-day.

A statement broadcast in French from London last night states:

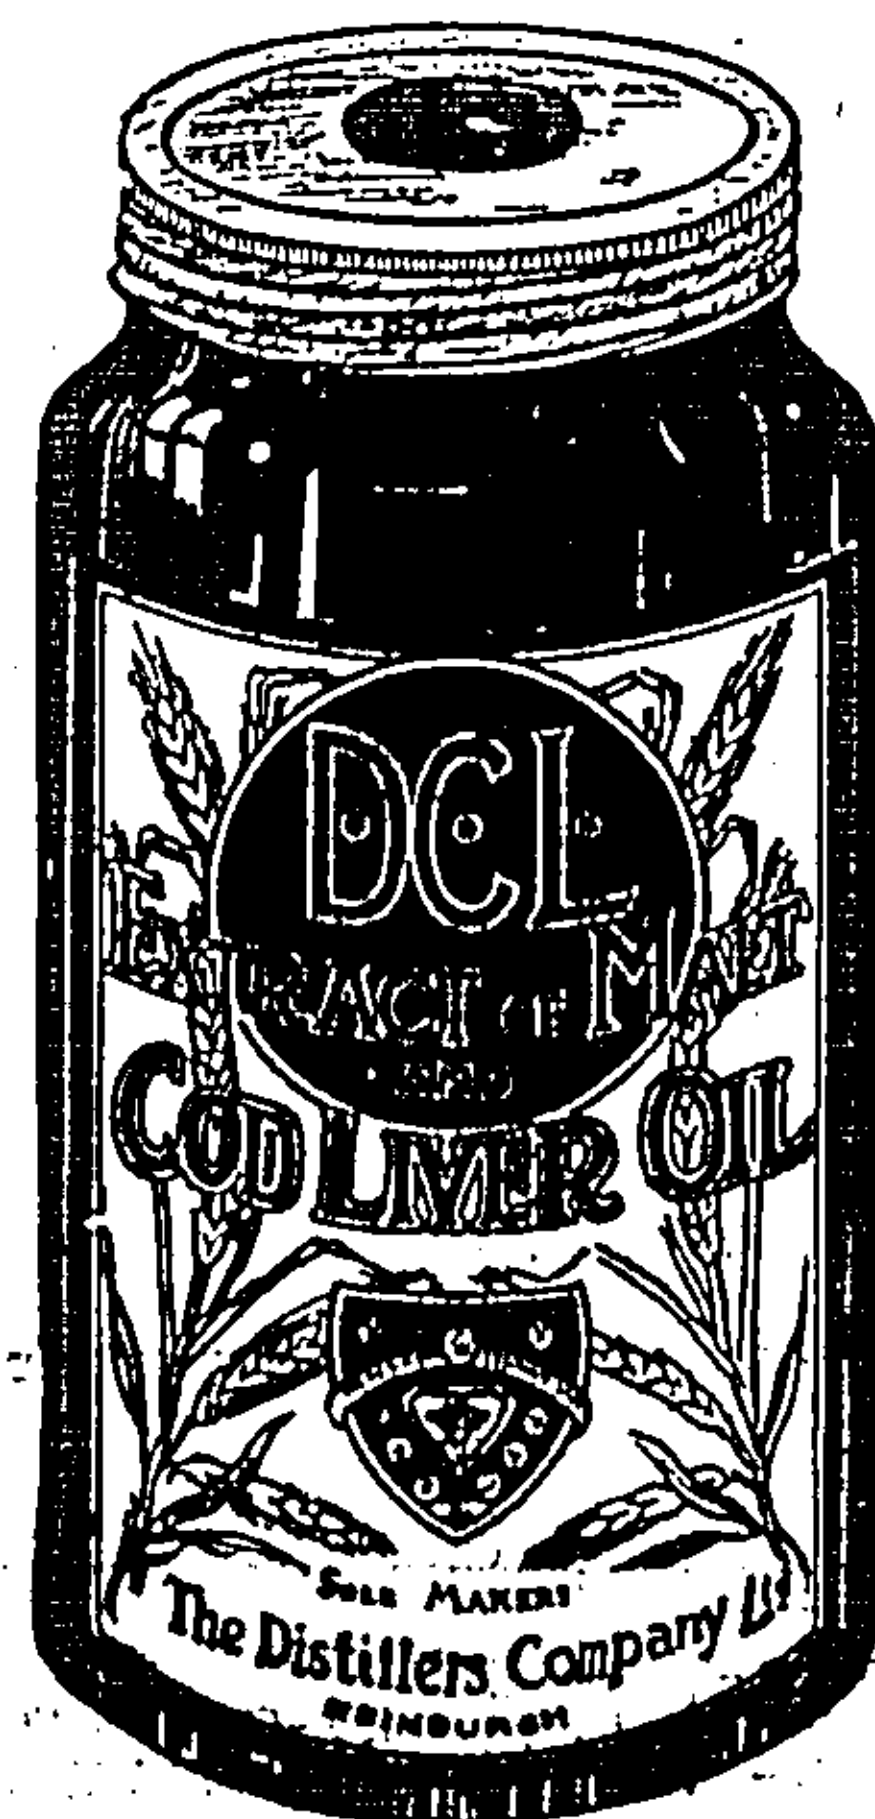

"His Majesty's Government find the terms of the armistice contravene the solemn agreement between the Allied Governments, reducing the Bordeaux Government to a state of complete subjection to the enemy and depriving it of the right to represent the French people.

"His Majesty's Government declare they can no longer regard the Bordeaux Government as the Government of an independent country.

"His Majesty's Government have noted the proposal to form a provisional French National Committee determined on the prosecution of the war in fulfilment of the international obligations of France." — Reuter.

S. E. Coast, June 7.

We call it the Front Line here. It is only the distance of an hour's motor run from the real battlefield.

There is still canned music drifting from the skating rink; there are still girls bathing in the sea.

But as an undertone to the dance tunes there is the rumbling of guns across the water. And the bathers are A.T.S. girls, not holidaymakers.

Everywhere, in fact, the veneer of normal life is peeling away. Here we are reminded constantly that we are in the war zone.

We no longer wear the mask of indifference still to be found in other parts of the country.

GRUMBLING GIANTS SHAKE TOWN

As I write this, I am facing the sea in a hotel that ordinarily, at this time of the year, is filled with holiday-makers.

At intervals, giants are grumbling across the sea. Just now the whole building quivered as a series of violent — and not so very distant — explosions shook the town and set the seagulls screaming.

Until recently, this gunfire and the sound of bombs from Flanders was monotonously regular.

And we have seen war, as well as heard it. We have watched great fires raging on the French coast. We have watched enemy planes dropping bombs and mines a few miles out to sea.

From the bathroom window the other night I saw a fireworks display of flaming onions, tracer bullets and searchlights.

And, of course, the most stirring experience of all was to see the return of the B.E.F., which I described day by day in the "Daily Herald."

War comes in through the swing doors of the hotel. Navy men enter, oddly dressed, oil-stained and wet.

They have come straight from action. They have a bath and a meal, and are off again.

One man came in the night. His ship had been lost.

A few nights later he came in again. His new ship had been lost.

He has gone back to the sea — back out there where the masts of sunken ships stick out of the water, where strange jetsam floats to be washed up on the beach.

All through the town and the countryside behind the tentacles of war are stretching out.

PEACETIME SIGNS MOCK US

There are shops to let, rows of empty houses. You seldom see children now. They have nearly all been evacuated. So have many of the women.

Now and again a mocking sign reminds us of peace. "Daily trips to France," "This way to the boats."

That sort of thing.

Along the roads, barbed wire entanglements and sentries have taken the place of the tea-rooms. Motor-buses twist slowly through S-barriers.

If you drive at night, a red lamp is waved at you before long and you must stop to produce identity cards — or take your chance of being shot.

Some roads leading to seemingly harmless beauty spots are barred all the time. At the junctions, old motor-cars and farm machinery are piled ready for use.

Groups of soldiers rest inside the barbed wire which surrounds some houses.

They look at you suspiciously if you stop to find the way — and it is difficult to find the way now that all the signposts have disappeared.

To ask for directions, especially at night, is to court suspicion. Everywhere, in fact, strangers are carefully watched.

Once I received a midnight telephone call from high authority. I had been reported for talking to Naval officers.

HE STOPPED — LOOKED AND LISTENED

On another occasion, while I was telephoning from the back parlour of a country inn five miles from the town,

LIBEL ACTION AGAINST MEDICINE DEALER

BEFORE MR. E. H. WILLIAMS at the Supreme Court this morning, the Ching Chai-tong Herb. Co., brought a libel action for $1,000 damages against Poon Ko-sau, of No. 48, Wing Lok Street, arising out of an advertisement published in two vernacular papers in connection with a Chinese lung tonic.

Mr. Eldon Potter K.C., instructed by Mr. E. S. C. Brooks appeared for plaintiffs, and Hon. Mr. Leo D'Almada, Jr., instructed by Mr. D. McCallum, was for the defendant.

Plaintiffs alleged that Poon caused to be printed in the "Kwok Wa Po" and "Wah Kiu Yat Po" on February 27 an advertisement, saying plaintiffs were of immoral character and without shame, that other persons would not associate with plaintiffs, that defendants were the originators of a medicine known as Pei Pak Lo, that plaintiffs had produced an imitation of this medicine, thus deceiving the public, and that defendants were the only producers and sellers of the said medicine.

As a result, according to the statement of claim, plaintiffs had been injured in their reputation and trade, and had lost many customers.

Publication Admitted

Mr. Potter said the publication of the advertisement was admitted by the defence, and the only issue was whether it referred to plaintiffs and whether the words were defamatory. There was no attempt to plead justification by the defence.

Plaintiffs were a very old established firm of medicine dealers, having started business in 1885. Defendants, on the other hand, had only commenced to sell medicine in Hong Kong recently.

A very substantial business was done by plaintiffs, the turn-over being about $80,000 a year. One of the Chinese medicines they sold was a lung tonic known as Pei Pak Lo, but the sales were not great as the turn-over was only $5,000 to $6,000.

The libel, went on Mr. Potter, was of a gross character as it said that anyone selling Pei Pak Lo, except as produced by defendants, was dishonest. The result of that in law was that, where the words reflected on each and every member of a determinable body then any member of that body could sue.

The defence was that the advertisement did not refer to plaintiffs, that the words were not defamatory and that there was no innuendo. "I shall submit," said Counsel "that the innuendo is established; that even if it is not, the words, in their natural meaning, are defamatory."

Remarkable Preamble

Dealing with the advertisement, Mr. Potter said if it was really an advertisement for a lung tonic. It had a most remarkable preamble for it began: "Once upon a time there was a brothel master who saved his dirty money and then became a merchant . . ." The only possible meaning was that defendants were the only persons entitled to put on the market anything known as Pei Pak Lo and that any other person who sold that commodity was shameless and on a par with the brothel keeper.

Plaintiffs were an old-established firm and had been selling that commodity for years. To suggest that the words in the advertisement were not defamatory was, therefore, utterly impossible.

After pointing out that the action was brought not for the purpose of ruining defendants but only to get rid of an outrageous libel, Mr. Potter said the partners of plaintiff firm were men of considerable standing.

Mr. Potter, concluding, said his case was based on two grounds, (1) that you can libel a man although you do not know him; (2) that words reflecting on each and every member of a determinable body or class of persons, i.e. anyone who sold Pei Pak Lo other than defendants, was entitled to bring action.

Tong Shuk-ping, managing partner of plaintiff firm, said the partners, besides himself, were Tong Chiu-lin, departmental head of the South-west Trading Co.; Ho Lok-lau, Director of the Tung Wah Hospital and Po Leung Kuk; Lu Tak-chuek, chief comprador of the National City Bank of New York and Edward C. Tong, Director of the Salt Gabelle of Wai On District.

The case is proceeding.

CHINESE DRIVE ON NANCHANG

Chungking, To-day.

Chinese troops have commenced a drive on Nanchang.

One column has wrought heavy havoc with the highway seven kilometres east of the city. Another column pushing down along the Nanchang-Kiukiang Railway has re-occupied Shangtang and damaged Japanese fortifications west of the city. A third column has wrested back Tzumuwan, about 10 miles southeast of Nanchang.

Fighting is reported to be drawing near the suburban areas of Nanchang. —Central News.

WAR ON MY DOORSTEP

low. We count the machines coming back.

Yes, down here, in this corner of England, the war is very near. And we have learned the lesson that must now be learned by the rest of the country.

We have put "Cancelled" labels across notices of dances, meetings and sports events. We have cut out all unnecessary functions. We have streamlined, simplified our lives.

No one complains or grumbles. It is just that we have learned before some other people to take the war seriously.

NOW.....

is the time to Cold Store all your winter clothes, carpets, hangings, linen, etc. to protect them from spoilage due to the excessive summer humidity and insects.

Clothes and linen may be packed in suitcases or similar containers and locked. Carpets should be rolled and tied. Valuable furs are stored on special hangers (which we supply) in a dustproof bag. Such hanging preserves their shape and cut. Insurance may be arranged at 1 3/4 % on the value of all personal effects so stored.

Just telephone us if you have any difficulties or questions and we will do our best to help you.

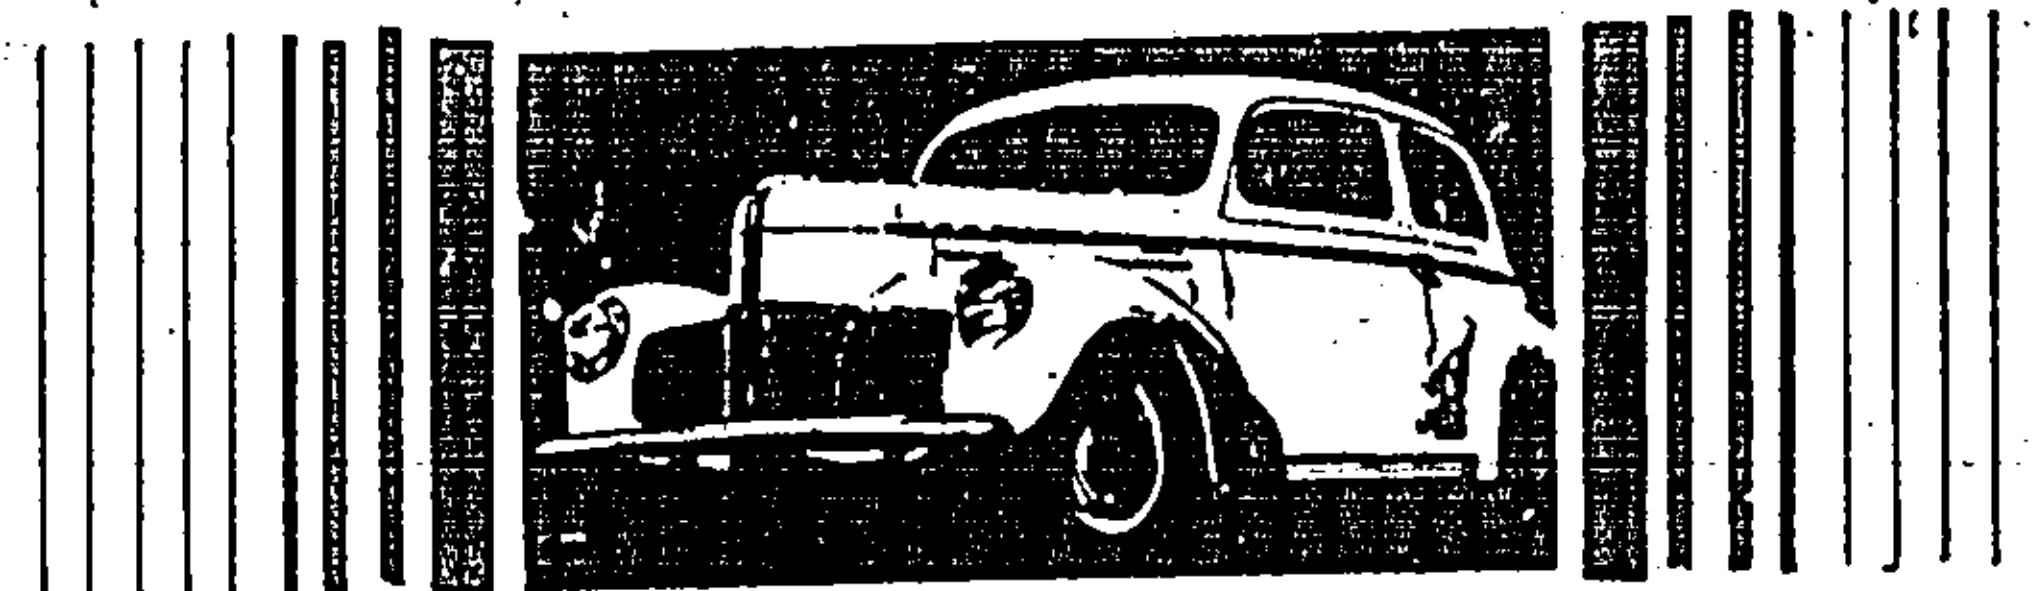

Remember also, that we take delivery from your house and return similarly at the end of the period!

WAR MEMORIES OF 25 YEARS AGO

(From the "China Mail" files).

June 24, 1915

Lance-Corporal F. Fisher, of the 13th Canadians, has been awarded the V.C. for gallantry in the battle before St. Julien. He advanced with a machine-gun under heavy fire and helped cover the retreat of a battery, losing four men. He returned, got four men, and went back to the firing line and was killed while bringing the machine-gun into action under very heavy fire to cover an advance.

The Admiralty announces that H.M.S. Roxburgh has been hit by a torpedo in the North Sea. There were no casualties and she sustained only slight damage.

It is estimated that there are over 2,000,000 Austro-German troops on the 100-mile front from the Lower Tanev to Miklojev, from which point there are 450,000 along the Dniester front. Altogether, there are 4,000,000 enemy troops from the Baltic to Bukovina.

Many Austrian regiments have been sent back to Galicia as the Czechs and Slavs are refusing to fight the Allies. One battery was discovered carefully firing into the air!

A Belgian column has captured Kumissenje, an important station on the north-east shore of Lake Kuvu, German East Africa; they have destroyed the fortifications there.

Easing The Body Turn

By BEST BALL

There is no sign of a sway in the above stance of Gene Sarazen as he essays an iron shot. His body has turned smoothly underneath the anchored head which remains directly in line with the taped path running cross wise through the ball. This facility of body movement is made easier by bending the knees slightly at address; their position in this stance is but slightly back of the line drawn upward from the toes.

The effect of this knee bend is greater body relaxation which is translated into easier swinging. The slightly opened stance which Sarazen has assumed for this shot i.e. the left foot back of the right in relation to the line of flight is in keeping with his compact style of play. When the clubface makes impact with the ball it will be at right angles to it.

COURT THROGGED AT WEST POINT MURDER TRIAL

THE SUPREME COURT was crowded this morning when Kwan Lai-chun, a married woman, appeared to answer a charge of murder of Lam Lin-kwai, a concubine.

The case was heard by the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor.

Mr. J. P. Murphy, assistant crown counsel, assisted by Inspector Whant, was for the prosecution while accused was represented by Mr. D. J. N. Anderson, instructed by Mr. P. Wynter Blyth.

The jury was composed of Messrs. M. A. Carvalho (foreman), Lau Tong, J. A. Remedios, K. E. M. Caudron, Shek Hassan, Lui Tan and Chan Sui-nam.

Mr. Murphy said that accused was the tin fong wife of Chui Chuck, who lived at No. 33, Hee Wong Terrace, West Point.

In the flat lived his concubine, his two children by her, his mother and his daughter-in-law.

As the result of events on May 12 mother, concubine and her son are dead.

Accused was charged with the murder of Lam Lin-kwai, the concubine, and the Crown also suggest that she was responsible for the death of Chui's mother and son.

Lam Lin-kwai was Chui's concubine during the life time of his fat wife and two children, a son and a daughter.

Jealousy Motive

Evidence would be given to show that there had been quarrels between the concubine and accused. The Crown alleged that accused was jealous of the concubine and her children as she was herself childless.

On May 12, the daughter-in-law who went to bed at 8 p.m. and fell asleep immediately, was awakened at 10 p.m. by cries of "save life" and saw accused attacking the concubine with a chopper. She saw blood streaming down the face of the concubine. She attempted to take the chopper from accused and the fight continued to the kitchen in the rear of the flat. The daughter in law ran out of the house but before leaving noticed the mother and the boy on the bed.

A watchman, who arrived on the scene shortly after, found the boy on the bed with the old woman beside him. Both were dead.

Medical examination showed that the concubine had 71 incised wounds, 24 of which were to the bone. Death was caused by haemorrhage and shock from multiple injuries.

Accused's story was that she was attacked by the concubine and the old woman and boy came to separate them and were accidentally killed by the concubine.

Allegation Incredible

Concluding, Mr. Murphy submitted that accused's story of self-defence could not be accepted. Deceased had 71 wounds, while accused had two slight cuts on the hand.

The allegation that deceased killed her own son was incredible. He suggested that accused, overcome by jealousy of the concubine, attacked her, the son and the old woman. The attack on the deceased was violent and unprovoked.

Dr. T. K. Lien who said he examined accused, said she was discharged seven days after admission to hospital. During her stay, he had observed her on several occasions and found nothing abnormal about her.

Friend's Story

Chiu Pak-ka, manager of the London Confectionery, West Point, said he knew accused and her husband, Chui Chuck. On May 12, accused, her husband and the concubine's son were in the shop. Later they went to a tea house. Here the husband said that since there were always quarrels, between her and the concubine, they had better go to the S.C.A. for a decision regarding maintenance and separation. At this, accused cried. Witness told them that since they were living together, it would be better if they got on harmoniously.

In reply to Mr. Anderson, witness said he did not hear accused ask her husband why he wanted her to go to the S.C.A. nor did he hear the husband say to her that she was always quarrelling with the concubine and that if she did not give up she would die.

The case is proceeding.

RHEUMATISM — A MYSTERY.

Every attack of rheumatism invites another; worse than that, it reduces the body's power so that each attack is worse than the one before.

If any disease needs curing early it is rheumatism, but there is scarcely any disease which physicians find more difficult to cure. When a medicine does help rheumatism therefore, it is worthy of special notice.

All authorities agree that the blood becomes thin with alarming rapidity as rheumatism develops. Maintaining the quality of the blood, therefore, is a logical way of preventing and combating the trouble. That it works out in fact is shown by the beneficial effects which follow the treatment of rheumatism, acute, muscular and articular, with the world-famous blood and nerve tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

That a great number of people who take these pills for their rheumatism get well is a fact beyond dispute. That the rheumatism does not return as long as the blood keeps rich and red is equally true. You will do well to try these pills for your rheumatism—they are obtainable at any chemist, but be sure to ask for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

J. C. Chalmers, of Taikoo, seen here bowling, lost his 100 per cent. skip record when he was beaten 24-17 by A. Wright, of Police, a week ago last Saturday at Taikoo. It was Chalmers's first check in four games, and Wright recorded his second win in four games. The latter had previously beaten Bob Duncan 18-16.

High Blood Pressure Kills Men & Women

Twice as many women as men suffer from High Blood Pressure, which is a very serious disease that starts about the time of Change of Life and is the real cause of much heart trouble and later on of paralytic strokes. Common symptoms of High Blood Pressure are: Nervousness, headaches at top and back of head and above eyes, pressure in head, dizziness, short breath, pain in heart, palpitation, poor sleep, loss of memory and energy, easily excited, fear and worry. If you suffer any of these symptoms, don't delay treatment a single day, because your life may be in danger. Hynox, a new medical discovery, reduces High Blood Pressure with the first dose, takes heavy load off the heart, and makes you feel years younger in a few days. Get Hynox from your chemist today. It is guaranteed to make you feel fit and strong or money back.

U.S. RED CROSS CENTRE IN LONDON

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

Washington, To-day.

The American Red Cross announces the formation of a London committee and an appropriation of $1,000,000 to further war relief work in England.

Dr. Grant has been appointed chairman, with Mr. Joseph Kennedy, U.S. Ambassador to Britain, honorary chairman.

The House of Representatives has approved a bill permitting American Red Cross ships to travel to belligerent countries with safe conducts from the warring nations.

The Bill, which has been sent to the White House for signature, stipulates that no Red Cross ship will enter a blockaded port unless the blockading power gives permission to do so. —Havas.

SHANGHAI BOMB PLOT

SHANGHAI, TO-DAY.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO WRECK THE PRINTING WORKSHOP OF THE "TA-MEI-WAN-PAO," VERNACULAR EVENING EDITION OF THE "SHANGHAI EVENING POST AND MERCURY," WAS MADE LAST EVENING.

At about 5.10 p.m. an unknown Chinese managed, unnoticed by the police guard, to enter the building.

He placed a parcel on the floor and

EX-FRENCH EMBASSY BURNT OUT

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

Shanghai, To-day.

The former French Embassy in Nanking was completely burned down on Saturday night, according to the "Shanghai Mainichi."

Cause of the conflagration is unknown; it took over two hours for Chinese firemen to get the fire under control.

Three Chinese caretakers who were in the building at the time the fire broke out are now being examined by the police. —Havas.

EXTREMELY IMPORTANT

(SPECIAL TO "CHINA MAIL")

BORDEAUX, TO-DAY.

FOREIGN DIPLOMATS ACCREDITED TO THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT MET AT 10 O'CLOCK YESTERDAY MORNING.

Nothing was divulged regarding the purpose of the meeting but it is reported it was "extremely important."

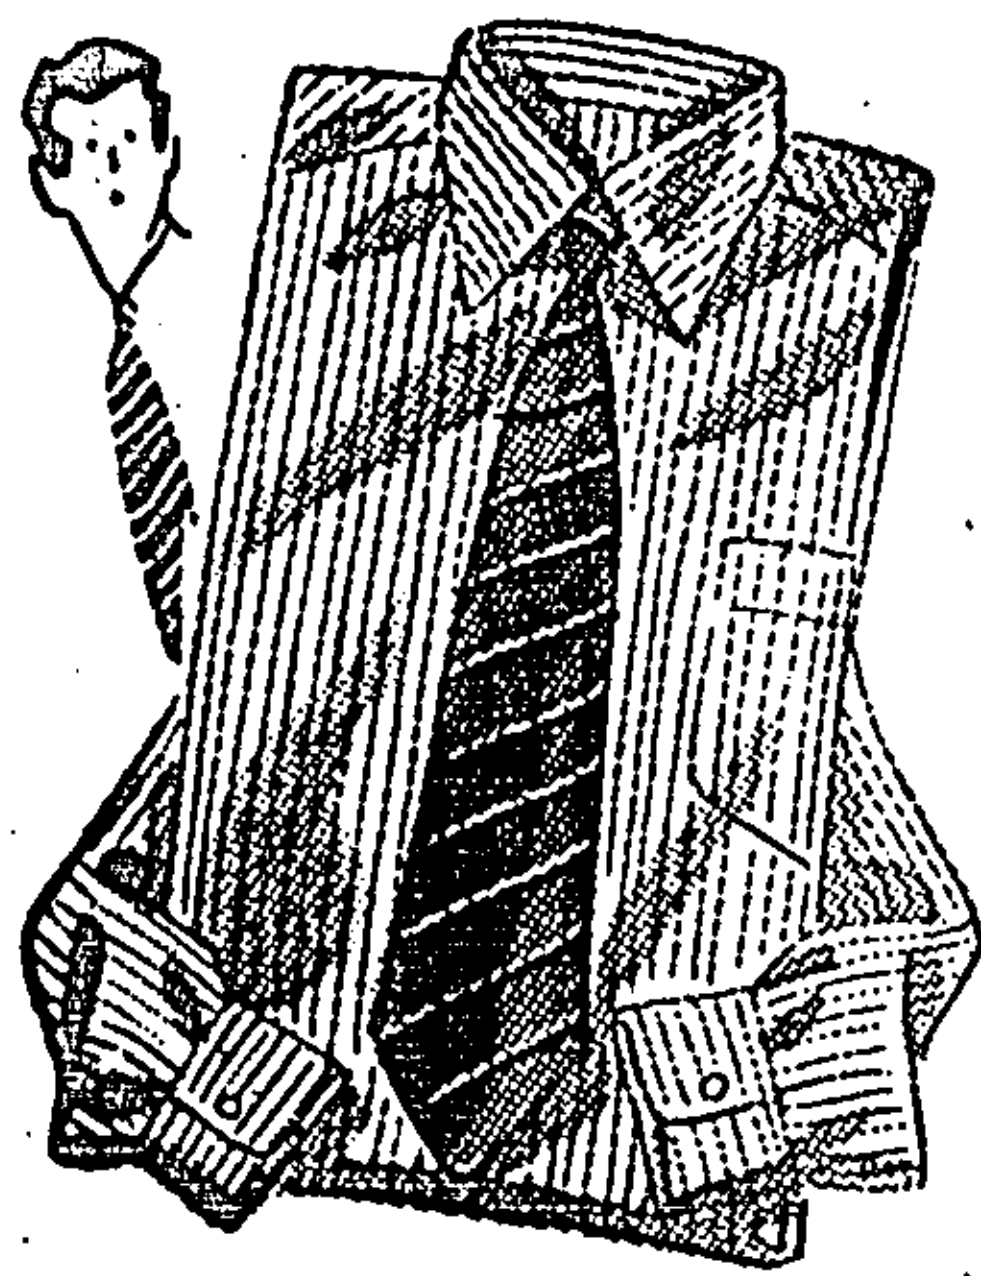

It was especially noted that among those attending were the Papal Nuncio, Mons. Valerio Valeri, and the Spanish Ambassador, Senor Jose Felix Lequerica, who played an important part in the Franco-German armistice negotiations. —Havas.

then hurriedly left. A few minutes later the bomb in the parcel exploded.

No damage was, however, caused. No arrests have been made. —Our Own Correspondent.

STOP PRESS

Chinese messages this afternoon state a Japanese cavalry detachment has entered Lungkong, an important town midway between the Canton Line and Tamshui.

Tamshui, half-way between Sha-yu-chung and Waichow, has also been entered, it is added.

Yesterday and to-day, Japanese aircraft carried out extensive bombing operations between Tamshui and Waichow.

These reports cannot yet be confirmed.

The Director of Air Raid Precautions announces that his appeal for 100 members of the general public residing in the Eastern District to volunteer for the A.R.P. Auxiliary Reserve of St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade, for duty in time of emergency at the First Aid Post and Cleansing Centre, Happy Valley has had such a gratifying response that it has become necessary to close the list for this district.

It is hoped in the very near future to extend the scheme to residents of other districts.

The border situation is unchanged, stated an official report received by the "China Mail" this afternoon.

The Japanese have not yet entered Shataukok.

The Chinese report extensive military action along the Canton Line and state that several small towns have been occupied by the Japanese who advanced northwards from Shumchun.

Private holders of arms—revolvers, automatic pistols, sporting rifles—for the possession of which licences are required, have been instructed by the Police Department to surrender the arms at the latest by Thursday.

The possessors of arms, numbering some 600, were notified by circular messages, distributed over the week-end.
